DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification as originally filed does not require the first lens to only correct color blindness and the second lens to improve only an overall brightness of vision.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor (US 4,300,819) in view of Chen et al (US 5,369,453), of record. Taylor teaches a system for correcting color blindness comprising: spectacles having a first and a second lens; where the first lens is configured to only correct color blindness and the second lens is clear (col. 2, line 68-col. 3, line 10) which would inherently improve only an overall brightness of vision. Although Taylor does not specifically teach creating an individual spectral curve for the color of the first lens or a second lens having an adjusted brightness varying from 500-600 nm, the system of Chen et al creates an individual spectral curve (see col. 2, line 60-col. 3, line 49; col. 4, lines 33-62), where the color of a lens is adjusted using the individual spectral curve. As shown by Fig. 4 of Chen et al, the lenses have an adjusted range of brightness varying from 500-600 nm. Note, in Chen et al, both lenses are placed under a vacuum chrome plating process (Chen et al; col. 4, lines 56-62) and both lenses of Taylor have a chrome finish for the same reason, so their individual differences cannot be detected to other viewers (Taylor; col. 3, lines 6-10). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide in Taylor, a first lens configured to only correct color blindness where the color of the first lens is adjusted using an individual spectral curve and a second lens configured to improve only an overall brightness of vision where the second lens has an adjusted brightness varying from 500-600 nm, since Chen et al teaches that these parameters are considered when making a color blindness correcting system and using these parameters mutually exclusive to a first and second lens are well known by Taylor and would have provided predictable results.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 5-8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
